OTTO BERLIN, formerly a dry goods merchant in Hamlin some 20 years ago, was a guest with his family in the late May home last week-end.

Young Berlin came to this country as a young man from Germany, and after a few months in New York where he found the going tough, moved to Texas. He worked with the Strauss Dry Goods store in Stamford for some time then later came to Hamlin with the Strauss store, which he and a partner later purchased and operated for some time.

Berlin stayed in the May home during his sojourn in Hamlin, and Mrs. May helped the young man with his English and grammar which he was trying to master along with his business venture.

While here Berlin recalled one time, while eating in the May home, he ate a big helping of squash thinking it was cabbage. After the meal, Mrs. May asked him how he liked the squash. He nearly vomited when he realized that he had eaten squash, which he vows he could never eat!

EMPLOYEES of Congressman Jim Wright of Texas wear large buttons with the inscription, "No Kin to the Boss."

That's a good way to dramatize the nepotism situation in Congress which has rocked the country.

It's true that Jim's folks are advertising the kind of thing they ought to be doing naturally.

But that isn't par among the members of the House these days. Jim Wright's record becomes one of the exceptions. In this nepotism scandal he's as clean as a hound's tooth. His constituents are proud of that.

REV. ROBERT SMITH of McAllen, who is this week doing the preaching in a revival meeting at the First Baptist Church fell right into the scheme of things at the Tuesday noon luncheon of Hamlin Lions Club at the oil mill guest house when he spoke to the group. He told a good dog yarn that needs further circulation:

Over in East Texas, the minister declared, a fellow in a big Cadillac offered a ride to an old coddler who was trailed by a big hound. He explained he would give the man a lift but couldn't let the dog ride.

"That's all right, mister," said the man, "my dog will get along."

The car driver went a mile or two at about 50 miles an hour then asked the owner if he'd better check on his dog. The man pointed to the dog just outside the window and remarked, "He's doing alright."

The driver stepped up his speed to 70 miles and drove a few miles, repeating his concern for the dog. "Oh, my dog's still keepin' up, see?"

After another splurge at 90 miles an hour, the driver suddenly stopped, convinced he had outstripped the hound. But there he was beside the car.

"But, man, what's that sticking out of his mouth?" asked the car owner.

"Oh, that's his tail, mister," replied the dog owner. After all, that's the quickest he's ever had to stop."

A LITTLE STEW has been created, we understand, recently in the Hamlin schools over some punishment meted out to some students. We notice by the press that such conditions also were experienced over in Tennessee.

As seven angry Tennessee parents learned last week the tune of the hickory stick can still ring—legally—through the halls of many American schools. The parents, who demanded assault warrants on behalf of their sons against Principal John Barnes of Bartlett High School near Memphis, were relieved by Judge Willard Dixon, who cited a state supreme court decision—similar to rulings in every state—that in the absence of local statutes to the contrary, teachers may physically punish students because they stand "in loco parentis" (in the place of parents) during school hours. In all Barnes gave 20 boys seven licks with a 12 by three-inch paddle for their part in an attempted boycott of their school's cafeteria. "You should have seen my boy's rear end!" cried one mother. "I have seen my own rear end after similar incidents," the judge replied.

Frances Hill and Melvin Green play the leading roles. The other characters are portrayed by Jerry Jeffrey, Wanda Smart, Merrell Davis, Robert Joplin, Alvin Jordan, Jack Waldrop, Mary Lanee Humphries, Mary Current, Travis Reece and Larry Moore.

Farmers with Soil Bank Land Urged To Comply with Acreage Allotments

Hamlin area farmers are being asked: Is your farm under a conservation reserve contract in the soil bank this year? If so, be sure to comply with any acreage allotments on the farm and also to observe your permitted acreage of soil bank base crops.

That's the reminder going out this week from the Jones County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office to all participants in the soil bank program.

Generally speaking, the permitted acreage on a soil bank farm is the amount of land on which grains, oil seeds and row crops may be produced. It consists of the historical acreage of such crops less the amount of land placed in the conservation reserve. A farmer who exceeds this permitted acreage or any acreage allotment on the farm may lose his annual rental payment and also be subject to a civil penalty.

Rabbit Drive Slated at McCaulley April 8

Another drive on rabbits in the area has been slated for Wednesday of next week in the McCaulley community, southwest of Hamlin. A barbecue dinner will be served at McCaulley at noon, according to Jerry Crowley, one of the promoters.

The girls' barrel racing events will be under sponsorship of the Texas Barrel Racing Association, the first such events ever to be conducted at Hamlin.

Action for the thrill-packed program will get underway at 2:00 o'clock. Several added attractions will be featured on the afternoon rodeo program. Among the added events will be barrel and flag races for children 12 years old and under.

Friday Is Day for Kid Photographs For Paper Contest

Tomorrow, Friday, is the day for pictures to be made of youngsters of the Hamlin territory for The Herald's big child photograph contest, and we are urging all our readers to have their children ready for the big day.

Winston B. Lucas of Irving will be in Hamlin on Friday, April 3, from 10:00 a. m. till 6:00 p. m. at a studio over The Herald office for the purpose of taking pictures in this vicinity.

In addition to having their pictures printed in The Herald, the children will be competing for $18.20 in prizes, which are being offered for the three best photographs made during the day.

The photographs will be made absolutely free of charge, and there is no charge for their publication in The Hamlin Herald. Proofs will be shown and from these you may select the picture of your child which you would like to appear in this newspaper. If you wish extra photographs, they may be purchased, but no purchase is necessary in order to have your child's picture printed in this newspaper, or in order to compete for the prizes. It is entirely up to you whether you buy pictures or not.

There is no age limit on the contest, and every child's photograph in this section is wanted so that they may all appear in The Herald. However, it is necessary that all pictures must be of uniform size so they must be made by Winston B. Lucas on Friday, April 3.

School Work Resumes After Easter Holidays

Students and teachers of the Hamlin schools took advantage of a four-day respite from classes over the Easter week-end to take visits and business trips in the first holidays of the new year.

Classes were dismissed last Thursday afternoon and were not resumed until Tuesday morning of this week, reports Superintendent of Schools C. F. Cook.

Good sized crowds were attending revival services first of the week at the First Baptist Church which began Sunday. The services being held at 7:00 and 10:00 a. m. and 8:00 p. m., will continue through Sunday, according to the pastor, Rev. Calvin Bailey.

Interest Continues Slight in Trustee and City Elections

Building Permits Reflect Consistent Growth in Hamlin

Hamlin has been one of the bright spots among smaller Texas cities in steady, consistent building for several years, leaders in commercial and residential construction will tell you. Even during the past several years of drought—when so many other of the smaller cities were showing decreases in population and slowed construction—Hamlin was in the limelight all along with a steady stream of construction.

Last year was a good year in construction, according to tabulations of building permits recently made by Mrs. H. M. Barrow, city secretary. New construction building permits for 1958 totaled $232,100, and repairs and alterations totaled $61,856 for a total of $293,956 in building permits for the year.

That total compared with those of $254,520 for the year 1957, when new construction totaled $180,280 and repairs and alterations amounted to $74,240.

Building permit figures have been kept by the city since 1954 when a city ordinance was passed to require the securing of a permit before construction or repairs amounting to more than $100 could be started.

DR. REX P. KYKER, head of the speech department at Abilene Christian College, will be the evangelist for a series of gospel meetings beginning Sunday at the Hamlin Church of Christ. The services will be at 3:00 and 7:30 p. m. during next week.

Topics to be discussed by the ACC professor during the meeting will be: Sunday morning, April 5, "The Church Is on the March;" Sunday evening, "Why Did These Things Happen?;" Monday afternoon, "What I Owe My Brethren;" Monday evening, "Thy Faith Hath Made Thee Whole;" Tuesday afternoon, "What Jesus Prayed For;" Tuesday evening, "The Weightier Matters of the Law;" Wednesday afternoon, "The Living Gospel;" Wednesday evening, "I Am Proud to Be a Christian;" Thursday afternoon, "Victory Over Temptation;" Thursday evening, "The Farewell Prayer;" Friday afternoon, "The Peculiar People;" Friday evening, "Jesus' Farewell Command;" Saturday afternoon, "Put Away Childish Things;" Saturday evening, "The Undeniable Christ;" Sunday morning, April 12, "Setting Our Standards;" and Sunday evening, "Jesus' Farewell Promise."

Few Absentee Ballots Are Cast In Each Election

Interest in the two elections scheduled for the next several days that will name two members to the board of trustees of the Hamlin Independent School District and two aldermen to the City Council continued to lag this week as the voting times neared.

Although absentee voting has been open for several days in both election, very few ballots had been cast. The absentee voting closed Wednesday in the school election, and will close Friday in the city election.

Formal election to name two school trustees will be conducted Saturday in the high school lobby. On the ticket are the names of W. C. Eoff, C. R. Lovell and Richard Young. Election judge will be H. L. Williams, and clerks will be Mrs. Brad Rowland and Mrs. C. C. Prater.

Voting in the city election next Tuesday will be at the city hall, where Mrs. Brad Rowland will be election judge, and Mrs. C. C. Prater and Mrs. A. A. Hackley will act as clerks. On the ticket are the names of A. Spencer, C. R. Lovell and John V. Howard Jr.

Polls will be open from 8:00 a. m. until 6:00 p. m. in both of the elections, it is announced.

First Methodist MYF To Host District Meet Monday Evening

Between 150 and 200 young people are expected to attend the Stamford District Methodist Youth Fellowship gathering next Monday evening at the First Methodist Church in Hamlin, according to Mrs. Jack Richey, sponsor for the MYF group.

Registration will begin at 7:00 o'clock, and the general session will open at 7:30.

Mike Pelfrey, a ministerial student at McMurtry College in Abilene, will be the principal speaker of the evening. A recreation hour in the fellowship hall will follow the worship service.

Ronnie Parker, youth worker for the Hamlin church, who also is a ministerial student at McMurtry, will introduce the speaker, following opening services.

The Stamford district is composed of churches from Seymour on the north to Anson on the south, from Albany on the east to Rotan on the west.

Slow, Drizzling Area Fall Really Soaked Ground

While not the biggest by any sort of measurements, one of the most beneficial rains the territory has received in months fell over a wide area over the week-end. Small grains and pastures were given a small drink for which they were famishing.

On the heels of aduster that invaded the region last Friday, the soft-falling drizzling rain began falling about 4:00 o'clock Saturday morning and continued at intervals during the day. Practically all the moisture soaked in the ground where it fell—except, of course, on hard or surfaced areas.

Kept green in most instances by sub-moisture, wheat and oats in the Hamlin territory was given a boost toward harvest, but still more moisture will be needed to make a grain crop. Pastures that had begun to green with the coming of spring took on new life. No stock water resulted from the drizzles.

Official government gauge at the city pump station registered only .62 of an inch, but farmers and ranchers in the territory declare they got from three-quarters to an inch of rain in the week-end precipitation.

The 62 official rainfall gives Hamlin a total for the year .88 of an inch. January recorded .01 of an inch and February .25 of an inch.

Many Rabbits Killed In Swedonia Drive

An estimated 7,000 rounds of ammunition was consumed last Tuesday in the day-long rabbit drive staged in the Swedonia community, west of Hamlin, according to Bill Smith, one of the promoters. From 2,500 to 3,000 rabbits and one bobcat were killed by approximately 200 hunters.

A big barbecue lunch was served at noon. Smith asks The Herald to publicly thank the following Hamlin merchants for their assistance: Farmers & Merchants National Bank, Midwest Cooperative Oil Mill, Piggly Wiggly, C. D. Jones and Hamlin Farmers Coop Gin.

MAKING THE TAXPAYER THE EVENTUAL GOAT

Uncle Sam is "helping" Texans into some financial holes and adding to the problem of local government these days.

It results from the so-called "federal grants-in-aid." In practice, this means that after a taxpayer has sent money to Washington, he must put up some more on the local level to get part of the cash back into his community.

In the latest fiscal year the state of Texas spent more than $250,000,000 of federal "aid." It had to levy state taxes to the federal funds.

Texas accepted more than $124,000,000 in federal cash for welfare purposes during the year, nearly $113,000,000 for road building, $11,000,000 for education and smaller amounts for other purposes.

This divided method for tax-and-spending, encouraged by most politicians simply makes Joe Taxpayer the "goat."

Congress will liberalize the welfare program. State Legislatures will dig up the millions for matching under the taunt that "we're paying for the program, anyway. Let's get some of the benefits here."

Texas receives relatively little federal cash for schools. But the controversy over proposed rejection of federal aid for lunches has stirred the state. Even children whose parents are well able to pay the full cost of the meal get a hand-out, as do needy youngsters.

Again, the advocates say: "We pay anyway. Let's get some of our money back."

The Hale-Aikin Committee on Education has faced up to the thankless task of trying to repair the federal "aid" system. Others from President Eisenhower down have tackled the job without much success.

It sure would be grand for old Joe Taxpayer if both Washington and Austin would quit helping him so much—with his own money!

How Much Do You Read?

Indications are that nearly half of the American people do not read books. This, despite the fact that more than half of our adults live within a mile of a public library.

Presumably, most Americans are satisfied with what they know, and do not bestir themselves to find out anything new. It may be, too, that television broadcasts have taken the place of reading to a large segment of our population.

The making of books has become a mass production enterprise in the United States. Unfortunately, many of the books published are not worth the time consumed in their reading. Others are extremely partisan, presenting prejudiced viewpoints and artful propaganda for theories that appeal to the author.

We have heard young men and women talk about their difficulty in selecting authoritative and worthwhile books on subjects in which they happen to be interested. These people realize that you cannot believe everything you see in print, and, without the technical information necessary to choose wisely among the authors, find themselves at a loss in the selection of intelligent, impartial and interesting volumes.

Nothing is to be gained by criticizing the authors of popular volumes or the publishers who put them on sale. After all, the author wants to write a book that will sell, and the publishers want the profits that come from publishing a best seller.

Nevertheless, libraries and publishers might render a public service if they created some agency to function in an advisory capacity and to serve the interest of readers, rather than the writers and the publishers. In the long run, everybody would gain.

Nuggets of Thought

In seasons of tumult and discord bad men have most power; mental and moral excellence require peace and quietness.—Tacitus.

Money may be the husk of many things, but not the kernel. It brings you food, but not appetite; medicine, but not health; acquaintance, but not friends; servants, but not loyalty; days of joy, but not peace or happiness.—Henrik Ibsen.

The measure of a man is not the number of his servants but in the number of people whom he serves.—Dr. Paul D. Moody.

Civilization means a society based upon the opinion of civilians. It means that violence, the rule of warriors and despotic chiefs, the conditions of camps and warfare, of riot and tyranny, give place to parliaments where laws are made, and independent courts of justice in which over long periods those laws are maintained.—Winston Churchill.

We are bound to our bodies like and oyster to its shell.—Plato.

The Facts of Life

Farm Journal, in an editorial reviewing the attitude of the last Congress toward farm legislation, observes, "Some of the sacred cows die hard. But the facts of life cannot be denied indefinitely."

For instance, the magazine points out that not long ago many members supported rigid 90 per cent supports—while "today you would have to hunt to find a 90 per center."

All in all, as this leading farm publication sees the picture, "... Congress is making some progress in its thinking on farm legislation. It is moving in the general direction of allowing price, rather than government, to guide farmers' decisions. ... Consumers are partly responsible for this. But we believe that farmers have had even more to do with it. ... Most of them never liked the idea of government control and support of farming in the first place, and many who once felt it necessary are pretty well disillusioned as to the effectiveness of government programs."

Actually, some of the most successful farming operations, measured by long-pull results, have been free of government control. Livestock is the outstanding example here. Meat animals are, by far, the farmer's largest source of cash income. And the livestock people have vigorously opposed government supports and the bureaucratic domination that would inevitably come with them, even in times of extremely low prices. They want to keep their independence and they want to make their own decisions.

The whole great meat industry, from the farms and ranches through the packing centers to the butcher shops, is a free enterprise industry. And it has given the American people standards of service that would seem unbelievable in most other lands.

Editorial of the Week

THE "NEW" ARMY.

Regardless of the missiles, rockets and other astonishing new (and costly) weapons, the Army still is made up of men.

Our Army, aside from technology, is undergoing some remarkable changes. They are changes in the men—changes brought about by new methods of training, by the Army's own self-criticism, by knowledge gained from the shortcomings of our fighting forces in World War II and in Korea.

And changes brought about by the growing necessity of having to get better results for less money.

Jim G. Lucas, military correspondent and a veteran of two wars, has been inspecting the new training system. There are many new features, all summed up by a single term—hard realism, he says. The Army is producing better soldiers.

RECALLING Other Years

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

Among news briefs of interest in the Hamlin community 20 years ago were the following, reproduced from the issue of The Hamlin Herald dated March 31, 1939:

The city election held Tuesday was rather quiet. R. Y. Barrow was reelected and E. C. Feagan was named a new alderman. Other members of the City Council are M. C. Wilson, J. W. Ezell and H. O. Cassle, and Joe L. Culbertson is mayor.

Only 50 votes were cast Saturday in the school trustee election. Tom Teague and J. Ubben were reelected to the board of education.

Appointment of Frank J. Martin as resident engineer for the Works Progress Administration project of city water supply for Hamlin was announced this week. The $234,545 project includes construction of a new lake south of town, running lines to Hamlin and modernization of the water plant in town. Of the total cost the government has granted some $105,000.

Model Grocery advertises the following prices: Sugar, 25-pound bag for $1.24; Folger's coffee, one-pound can 29 cents; fresh country butter, 25 cents pound.

TEN YEARS AGO.

From the files of The Hamlin Herald we reprint goings-on in the community 10 years ago, the briefs below being from the issue of March 25, 1949:

W. E. Nunn, who for more than two years has been pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, resigned this week to accept a call to a church at Cushing in order to be near the Baptist Seminary at Jacksonville where he will continue his schooling.

Pat Marlow was elected president of the Hamlin Rotary Club for the year beginning July 1 at the Wednesday noon luncheon of the civic group.

Sale of the Jay Hardware to Weldon Carlton was announced this week.

Installation of 60 new street lights for Hamlin has been ordered this week by the City Council, according to B. M. Brundage, mayor.

Lane Fletcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Watts Fletcher sustained loss of a portion of a finger when a door slammed on the member.

FIVE YEARS AGO.

The following news briefs are reprinted from the issue of The Hamlin Herald dated March 26, 1954:

Leasing of land in the Hamlin territory is booming these days as plans are being made to probe a deeper Cambridge strata of oil pay reported recently.

Almost half the gain recorded in scholastics in Jones County in the recent enumeration was due to gains in the count in the Hamlin school district, it is revealed this week by Everett Beaver, county school superintendent.

Second attempt to burglarize the Jay Implement Company in recent days was thwarted last Friday night about 9:30 o'clock when Eddie Jay, owner of the car and implement business, returned to the store and found two men in the building. The men ran to the southeast, hotly pursued by Jay on foot, and the would-be burglars escaped in the darkness near the Moore Feed Mill. Jay, returning to his store, found the safe loaded in a new International pickup on display in the concern. Some $100 was taken in a burglary, said Jay.

Tenth Week Finds State Legislature Still Struggling with Tax Problems

This begins the tenth week of the fifty-sixth Legislature, and the committees are still in the process of hearing testimony for and against the bills, declares State Representative Leon Thurman of Anson in his weekly news release to The Herald. His release continues: There have been several bills reported out of committee, but they have not appeared on the calendar yet.

There seems to be the policy insofar as an income tax or sales tax is concerned to try to keep some of the poor boys from the country down here until they will be willing to vote for a sales tax. It may be possible your legislator will have to eat crackers and cheese to stay on, but at the present time I can see no chance of voting for a sales tax or income tax during this session.

There are several tax bills which have been introduced which are not income or sales taxes but have been called income taxes and sales taxes by the governor. I think the people should thoroughly study these bills with the help of their representatives and perhaps some broad based tax can be passed and each person of the state pay a pro rata part.

The working of the Legislature is such that sometimes a bill is killed by parliamentary procedure and not by the people who are against the bill. A person has to be here a while to learn the importance and use of parliamentary procedure in order to protect the interests of the people.

We have had something over 3,500 lobbyists to register during this session and in so doing they have indicated that they are interested in some type of legislation, so you can readily see from all the lobbyists we have from different interests, they are trying to influence the members of the Legislature to accept their point of thinking.

On Monday, March 16, there was a skirmish in the committee on House Bill 3, wherein we voted against the author of this bill. It was not a vote against the bill but against the man who is carrying it. This has been misunderstood by some of the people of our district who are saying that we voted against the bill. We would like for the people to know that such is not true. Since we are on the committee hearing testimony we feel that both sides should be given an opportunity to express their views in an unbiased and unprejudiced committee. If anyone is being tried by a jury, and that is what this amounts to, they would want to hear the evidence for those whose minds are not made up. Therefore, to be fair to all the people of the 85th District of Texas, we must hear the testimony for both sides and

Profit on Real Estate Must Be Accounted In Income Tax Return

If you sold your house during 1958 you will have to account for any profit or loss on your income tax return. The cost of the house plus any additions to the house, such as chain link fence, original cost of putting in the lawn and shrubs and a number of other deductions including real estate fees may be deducted from the sale price in determining whether you have a profit or loss, points out Tax Man Sam in a release to The Herald.

You will probably be entitled to a capital gain on a profit. However, if you have a loss, you don't get a tax deduction.

The 1959 edition of "Your Federal Income Tax," Publication 17, which is on sale at all Internal Revenue Service offices for 35 cents, will probably answer all of your questions on just how to figure out whether you owe Uncle Sam some tax or not on the sale of your residence.

vote the way we believe is best for our people.

We trust that the people will go to the record and check the votes before accusations are made.

Scores of Motorists Lack Inspections

Scores of Hamlin area motorists still have not secured their safety inspection stickers on their cars and trucks, Texas Highway Patrol men have declared. They point out that less than two weeks remains in which to secure the vital little stickers.

Several inspection stations are ready in the territory to make the necessary inspections, follow up with adjustments or needed repairs or replacements on lights, brakes, windshield wipers, etc., that are included in the safety inspection.

Vehicles not bearing the inspection stickers after April 15 will be subject to fine, highway officials remind.

Stamford PCA to Celebrate Friday Silver Anniversary

Friday, April 10, will mark the silver anniversary of the Production Credit system in Texas and will see the stockholders of the Stamford Production Credit Association gather in Stamford to celebrate this occasion.

The program, which will be held in the Round-Up Hall on Cowboy Reunion Grounds, will be highlighted by an address by W. M. Stokes Jr., president of Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston. Other features will include election of one director, reports from various officers of the organization and a barbecue dinner at noon.

In keeping with the silver anniversary features of the meeting, 10 sets of silverware will be given away absolutely free during the activities of the day.

The Stamford association provides agricultural and livestock financing for farmers and ranchers in eight counties and maintains offices in Stamford, Anson, Haskell, Spur and Munday. C. G. Burson Sr. of Haskell is president of the board of directors; J. F. McCulloch of Stamford is vice president. The other directors are J. C. Moorhouse of Benjamin, Lasater Hensley of Guthrie and Mack H. Claburn of Anson.

In 25 years the Stamford Production Credit Association has grown from a group of four or five men with a total capital structure of about $45, to an organization that encompasses more than 1,200 members, capital of over $1,000,000 and an annual loan volume of more than $8,000,000.

The Stamford association now houses its five offices in quarters owned by the organization in the various towns it serves, and an investment amounting to approximately $175,000.

WARNING CAME TOO LATE—Troy Keller, 30, of Amarillo didn't see the warning sign at a railroad crossing in Dallas until it was too late. The truck trailer carrying 35,000 pounds of wheat was upended and a box car derailed in the collision. Keller escaped without major injury.

Cutting Government Expenditures in Face of More Spending Hard to Do

This nation faces the problem of cutting government expenditures in the face of an exploding population, declares U. S. Senator Lyndon B. Johnson in his weekly news letter to The Herald. The release continues:

Basically, the nation's needs are multiplying faster than the replacements. Those of you facing the problem of buying clothing for growing school age children know exactly what that means.

Crowd Attends Annual County 4-H Fun Festival

An estimated 300 people attended the annual Jones County 4-H Club Fun Festival held in the high school auditorium at Anson last Tuesday night, according to word from County Home Demonstration Agent Mary Y. Newberry and Jones County Agent Kirby Clayton.

Forty acts, skits and stunts were staged by the 18 Jones County 4-H Clubs under the supervision of the adult leaders, county extension agents and other volunteer leaders.

A skit by the Noodle 4-H Club entitled "Othello" won first place for a prize of $7.50. The second place winner was a pantomime entitled "Romeo and Juliet" by Dean Bockman from the Noodle 4-H Club. Larry Grimm of the Ericksdahl 4-H Club won third place with a horn solo.

The first place winner will compete in the extension District III 4-H Share-the-Fun Festival at Wichita Falls on Saturday, May 9. Judges for the county event were Barbara McAnnally, Haskell County home demonstration agent, and Stonewall County Agent Truit Henning.

What is bought today threatens to be too small tomorrow.

Housewives can picture the problem of setting an additional 8,000 places at the dinner table every night. That's what is happening over the nation.

Day in and day out we are gaining almost 8,000 more persons than we had the day before. One more person is being added to the population about every 12 seconds. We are gaining at the rate of 2,855 a day... and the average is 2,864,000 a year.

That's how fast this nation is growing!

And all of this growth creates new demands. There is demand for more homes, more schools, for churches, more hospitals. There is increased need in the broad field of health, transportation, education, finance and welfare. All this places increased demands on both government and business.

There is also another important fact we need remember:

There are now in this nation more than 14,000,000 men and women 65 or older. And this number is increasing at the rate of more than 400,000 a year. The majority of these people are no longer working. But here is a great reservoir of mature talent, experience and know-how. I wonder if this isn't a tremendous resource now being wasted.

This situation spells out both problems and opportunities. It means that in our search for the right road to economy, we must avoid short cuts that could lead to national stagnation. We must recognize that this is a dynamic period of expanding needs as well as changing times.

Our job is to economize, to cut expenditures where spending can be cut. But in doing that, we must balance the tremendous needs of today against the known demands of tomorrow. That is the goal I expect the Senate in this session to achieve.

Treatment Centers for TB Patients Cramped

"Most obvious gap in TB control in Texas is lack of help in communities for medically indigent TB patients," Dr. John W. Middleton of Galveston, president of the Texas Tuberculosis Association, pointed out to delegates of the association in concluding sessions of the fifty-first annual meeting at San Antonio Saturday. Several from Jones County attended the meeting.

Dr. Middleton commented on better patient care now available in state TB hospitals but stated that a real hardship to tuberculosis control existed since there are only 36 public TB clinics in counties in the state. These serve a total population of 5,783,088.

Holis Rae Haynes of Stamford and James Earl Boyd of Hamlin Say Vows

Holis Rae Haynes of Stamford became the bride of James Earl Boyd of Hamlin in double ring wedding rites at St. John's Methodist Church at Stamford Saturday evening. Officiating at the ceremony was Dr. Marshall Rhew, Methodist district superintendent.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Haynes of Stamford. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. N. I. Boyd of Hamlin.

Carol Clark of Plainview, student at McMurry College in Abilene was soloist, and Mrs. N. M. Phy of Stamford was organist. Candles were lighted by brothers of the couple, Don Haynes of Stamford and Duwood Boyd of Hamlin.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by Mrs. Dane Clark of Denver, Colorado, a matron-of-honor. Acting as bridesmaids were Sondra Burson of Killeen, Mrs. Kenneth Quattlebaum, Sandra Cross, Gloria Musgrave of Yvonne Caldwell of Abilene. Rusty Beasley of Abilene carried the rings.

Best man was Raymond Boyd of Dallas, brother of the bridegroom, and groomsmen were Duwood Boyd and Ralph Bailey of Hamlin, R. A. Boyd of Lamesa, brother of the bridegroom, Jim Jackson of Hamilton and Fred Schkade of Albany. Ushers were Don Haynes and Jimmy Baldwin of Seymour.

The bride wore a formal gown of sheer imported taffeta. The widened sabrina neckline was enhanced with scalloped appliques of sequin and pearl-studded lace. The lace motif was repeated in applique on the full skirt, which fell from a molded bodice. The skirt curved into a draped envelope back caught with a pouff and bow of fabric and fell into a chapel length train. Their circular veil of illusion fell from a high standing crown of delicate hearts, each studded with sequins and pearls matching her gown. Her bridal bouquet was a white orchid nestled in pink rosebuds.

Her attendants wore street length gowns of pink crystal peau de soie with trim of Roman glory ross and carried single long-stemmed Roman glory roses. They wore crown-less small picture hats and satin opera pumps of rose and wore pink net mitts.

Shoes Should be Picked for Style, Fit And Color Harmony with Clothes

What do you look for when you buy a pair of shoes? Style? Fabric? Color? Fit? Perhaps you look for a pair of shoes that will "go with" a certain outfit that you have in mind. Or are you looking for a pair of shoes to be worn for a certain occasion? Whatever you are looking for in accessories, it will pay you to check the new bulletin just issued by the extension service entitled "Accessories Around the Clock." This bulletin is available in the office of Home Demonstration Agent Mary Y. Newberry.

There is much exciting news in shoes, says the agent. Although the pointed toe predominates, the most exciting news comes in the gently rounded toe. In general, toes are tapered but not needle pointed. There are pumps and T-sandals with a light open look with cut-away sides and vamps. Heels are slender, high, oval and mid-high. Patent leather is still a spring and summer favorite. A sensational new crack resistant finish for patent leather has been developed. This improved leather has a deeper luster and can be washed with soap and water without harmful effect.

Before you go shopping, decide the purpose of the shoe you are to buy. Don't buy on impulse. Also shop for a shoe that is correct in fabric and color for the dress or suit you are to wear them with. The street, travel or business shoe should be tailored and of durable material. Select a mid-high heel in a pump, one strap or dress oxford. The fabric may be polished calf, kid or patent.

Shoes for church and afternoon wear are more dressy. Kid, patent or fabric may be worn. Either the high or mid-high heel is appropriate.

Shoes for dress-up occasions are high heels in pumps or sandals. For the woman who cannot wear high heels, the mid-high or oval heel is good. Shoes are now offered in beautiful brocade, embroidered crepes and satins that are appropriate for informal parties and after-five occasions. For casual and spectator sports wear, choose a medium high or low heel. It is most important for your health and disposition that your shoes fit accurately. Each time you buy shoes have your foot measured for both length and width. Don't tell the clerk your size. Let him tell you. Test the shoe by standing and walking in them.

Pointers on Handbag Selecting Given in New Free Bulletin

Do you plan to buy a handbag? Before buying a handbag, try it with the costume it will be worn with; check the security of the closing. Is the handbag easily carried? Is the lining well made and durable? Handbags of good leather are considered an investment and they are the mark of a well dressed woman, says Mary Y. Newberry, Jones County home demonstration agent.

The leather handbag is a wise choice for wear with street and travel clothes. This bag should be simple in line and of durable leather. This bag should be as large as the proportion of the individual allows, since business and travel require extra items or papers.

The trend is for bags to take on a new appearance this spring. They may be either slim and flat or softly gathered with contoured corners and a generally flattened silhouette.

"The bag with handles is almost a 'must' for travel. The handles this spring are slim and less dominant. Look for the secure closure. We find closures unusual and concealed with leather. Slide fastener compartments add to the convenience and safety of the handbag for street and travel wear. A leather lining adds to the original cost, but it also adds to the durability of a bag.

To be smartly dressed for street or travel, the material of the handbag should be the same as the shoes or harmonize with them. select one of the basic colors for this accessory.

Visit the agent's office and ask for the bulletin B-911, "Accessories Around the Clock," for information on handbags for other occasions.

ADAMS HAVE GUESTS.

Fresh Pork and Other Energy Foods Top April's Plentiful List

The current supply of pork is sufficient to rate the feature spot on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's April list of plentiful foods for this area.

The list also includes many other energy foods that go well with increased spring activity. Lamb has taken a spot on the list. Broilers and fryers continue plentiful, as do eggs, milk and other dairy products, peanuts and peanut products. And with pork plentiful, lard is too.

Potatoes, cabbage and canned peas are still sufficiently abundant to rate the plentiful tag. Honey and walnut supplies also continue plentiful and they complete the April list.

The monthly list of plentiful foods is supplied by the USDA through the Southwest food distribution division of the Agricultural Marketing Service, after national and local supplies are determined. Only foods in heavier supply than normal make the list.

Mothers Urged to Be Careful to Protect Baby's Sensitive Skin

Although a baby's skin is soft, smooth and very pretty, it is also extremely sensitive. Special treatment will keep it lovely.

Any baby who is inclined to come down with diaper rash should be changed as soon as he is wet. The diaper area should be cleansed with baby oil and sprinkled with a little baby powder. Choose a baby powder that resists moisture so that baby will have lasting protection.

Moisture is another cause of infant skin irritation. Make sure baby is really dry after his bath. Dry baby with fluffy soft towels. Sprinkle a little moisture resistant baby powder on your hands and rub it over baby's skin. Don't sprinkle the powder directly on baby as it may cause him to sneeze unnecessarily.

Any skin condition which does not clear within a few days may be allergic in origin. Report it to your baby's doctor.

Hamlin P-TA Group to Go to Anson For 18th District Spring Conference

Several members of the Hamlin Parent-Teacher Association will be among the scores from Central West Texas who will next Tuesday and Wednesday attend the annual spring conference of the 18th District, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, to be held at Anson High School, declares Mrs. E. D. Perrin, president of the Hamlin P-TA.

Theme for the two-day meet will be "Today's Challenges: Tomorrow's Realities."

Registration of district board members is scheduled for 1:00 p. m. April 7. Pre-conference board of managers meeting will be at 1:30 p. m. in the high school cafeteria.

The home of Mrs. Robert Cross will be the scene of a tea at 4:30 p. m. and a dinner in the cafeteria will be hosted by the Anson board of education and the Anson P-TA.

Individuality with Color Will Add to Room Attractiveness

Does your room lack interest? Then here's what you do:

Make a skirt for your dressing table out of an old sheet tinted to your favorite color. Trim the edges with several bands of rick-rack or eyelet embroidery and put matching ruffles around the mirror. (These can be attached with adhesive tape).

And remember that bird cage in the attic? Give it a coat of paint in a shade to match the dressing table ensemble and hang it from a velvet ribbon filled with artificial flowers and trailing vines.

Individual salad bowls made of wood make good dishes for popcorn, potato chips or what have you. Use nail polish to print on the inside bottoms of a trio of them: "That's All," "You've Had It," or "All Gone." Then wax the bowls until they shine and display them on a shelf.

Next, sew two big red felt hearts together with a layer of cotton in between. This will make a conversation piece on which to pin notes to yourself, buttons to be sewed on and the like. It doesn't take a lot of money to make an interesting room—just ingenuity, a little elbow grease and a bit of wax or paint.

Mrs. Baker Returns From Colorado Visit

Revival Crusade Slated by Baptists Area Brotherhood

Revival crusade, sponsored by the Jones County Baptist Association Brotherhood, will be held at the First Baptist Church in Stamford today and tomorrow (Thursday and Friday). Lewis Timberlake, president, has announced.

Services will begin each evening at 8:00 o'clock and will feature a musical program of familiar hymns and choral interpretations with solos and instrumental presentations.

The evangelistic team of Bo and Dick Baker of Dallas will direct the spiritual mission, Timberlake said. This unique brother team presents the Bible in song and sermon, declaring the relevancy of Jesus Christ as the great answer for the dilemma of today's world.

World famed evangelist Billy Graham said of them: "Bo and Dick Baker, both of whom I regard as close friends, will be a great credit to the field of evangelism. Both are talented, sincere men of God. My confident prayer is that God will wonderfully bless the efforts of these dedicated brothers."

Bo Baker brings to the pulpit a rich background of experience for an evangelistic ministry. As an original member of the Youth Revival Movement, he preached and sang his way across the South. For 15 years he served as pastor. Dick Baker delights in being introduced as a gospel singer. While in Baylor University he organized and directed the Baylor Religious Hour Choir.

Rev. Jack Sutherland, host pastor, invites people from the entire area to be in Stamford for these crusade services.

STATE CAPITAL

Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin.—"After seeing the appropriation bill—and with all the sentiment there is in favor of a teacher pay raise—I don't see how we can pay for it all without passing one of those big tax bills."

Speaking in private conversation was a legislator. He is one of an estimated 80 to 90 House members who told voters flatly last summer they wouldn't vote for a general sales tax.

But the "big tax bills" to which he refers are the Strickland-Kubert bill, Blanchard bill, Oliver bill, etc. All of these are, as someone said, "mighty like a sales tax," in that they would be collected on the basis of the sales of large numbers of items.

His predicament is shared by many Texas lawmakers this year. It is: How to finance the things the people of Texas want without voting a tax the people don't want?

Biggest Ever.—House appropriations committee is recommending a 1960-61 spending bill that is the granddaddy of them all.

Altogether, spending from all sources, including federal grants, would total $2,401,276,388. It is $240,000,000 higher than the 1959-60 budget.

Even so, it is $7,500,000 less than recommended by Governor Price Daniel. Committee's bill calls for general revenue spending of $322,461,196; the governor's for $329,952,992.

Financing the committee's recommendations will require about $157,000,000 in new tax money for the general fund. This results from adding together (1) the expected $65,000,000 deficit from 1958-59, (2) the $42,000,000 increase in spending for the coming biennium over this one, and (3) an expected $50,000,000 gap between expected revenue and present spending levels.

If the proposed public school teacher pay raise and any other part of the Hale-Aikin recommendations for school improvement are adopted, the new money needs would soar to between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000.

Principal beneficiaries of the $42,000,000 increase proposed by the appropriations committee would be higher education, up $23,804,432; state employees, up $3,400,000; state hospitals and special schools, up $10,321,186; prison system, up $6,000,000.

Tax Front.—Meanwhile, the House taxation committee, beset by the prodding of the governor on one hand and the objections of various citizens on the other, toils on in its search for new money.

Recent actions include: Showing temporary disapproval, 12 to 6, of the governor's plan for the state to take over abandoned property and dormant bank accounts.

Hearing the pros and cons of a raft of "broad-based" taxes. These include:

1. A nine-part omnibus tax measure by Representatives Bob Strickland of San Antonio and Wesley Roberts of Lamesa which would include a gross receipts levy on retail establishments. It would raise an estimated $200,000,000 to $300,000,000.

2. A 1 1/4 per cent gross receipts tax on all business activity (with certain exemptions for farm supplies, charitable institutions, professional services, etc.) by Representative H. J. Blanchard of Lubbock. It would bring in about $300,000,000 to $400,000,000.

3. A tax on "the first sale or use of any finished product" by Representative W. T. Oliver of Port Neches.

4. A "net profits and receipts" by Representative Alonzo W. Jamison Jr. of Denton.

5. A "cure all" tax on manufactured goods by Representative Jerry Sadler of Pecos, to bring in about half a billion dollars per biennium.

It all led one House member to complain of a "million dollar headache."

Bobby E. Bingham Takes Officer Course

Army Second Lieutenant Bobby E. Bingham, 23-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie D. Bingham of Route 3, Hamlin, completed the eight-week officer leadership course March 6 at the Infantry School at Fort Benning, Georgia, according to a release from that base to The Herald.

Designed for newly commissioned officers who have not served with troops, the course offered Lieutenant Bingham instruction in the duties and responsibilities of an infantry unit commander.

The lieutenant is a 1953 graduate of Anson High School and a 1958 graduate of Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene.

solons, argue that taxpaying citizens are entitled to equal representation no matter where they live.

Economy Bill Making Headway.—There's at least one fellow who believes that his type of job is useless, outmoded and unnecessary.

He is George Corse Jr. of Graham. Corse feels that school money is being wasted by keeping the job of county school superintendent alive. He wants to discontinue the office and contends that it will save the state a minimum of $400,000 annually.

To prove they were economy minded, too, the House passed his bill (HB 101 by Representative George Wilson of Newcastle) and sent it on to the Senate with their blessings.

HB 101 would permit the people of a county, by petition of 10 per cent of the eligible voters, to vote on discontinuance of the office of county superintendent of schools. Corse is county superintendent of Young County.

Evangelist Tells Lions Businessmen Neglect Churches

"If we treated our business relations in the same haphazard way the average man does his church, we would be fired or lose our patronage," declared Rev. Robert Smith of McAllen, when he spoke at the Tuesday noon luncheon of the Hamlin Lions Club at the oil mill guest house.

The preacher, who is leading in a revival at the First Baptist Church, pointed to the basic need for spirituality in the lives of everyone—even the Hottentot and the mentally ill. He said the only sure recipe for definite dividends of peace of mind and happiness come from devotion to Christ and His program. "This," he said, "is not necessarily a guarantee of financial success, but a guarantee of a successful life."

Rev. Smith used as a basis for his remarks the scripture, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and these other things shall be added."

The speaker was presented by Rev. Calvin Bailey, pastor of the host church.

Besides the speaker, other guests at the Tuesday luncheon included R. C. Woodbridge of Fort Worth, Don Bailey of Stamford, R. A. Guthrie and Billy Henderson of Hamlin.

Mrs. King Murder Trail Set at Anson Court on April 8

Speculation of potential petit jurors has been drawn for the second week in April when the murder trial of Iva Robinson King has been set, it was announced by District Attorney W. L. McDonald this week. The case has been set by District Judge Owen Thomas for Wednesday, April 8.

Mrs. King of Stamford is charged with murder in connection with the slaying of Guy King on October 17, 1958.

The indictment charges on the first of two counts that she "did with malice aforethought kill Guy King by running against, into and over the said Guy King with an automobile."

The January term of the 104th court ends on April 17.

Last Friday a 104th District Court jury found Chester Morris Horn guilty of driving while intoxicated (DWI), second offense, and assessed his punishment at 12 months in jail and a $100 fine.

Jones County Buys 20% of Savings Bond 1959 Quota

Savings bonds sales in Jones County totaled $35,653 during February," reports A. C. Humphrey of Stamford, chairman of Jones County's savings bonds committee. Sales for the first two months of 1959 amounted to $99,535, which was 20.4 per cent of the county's goal of $487,000.

Total sales in Texas during January and February of this year were $31,100,328 which represented 17 per cent of the state's 1959 goal of $182,500,000.

"Top business leaders from all over our nation gathered in Washington recently to hear the president, cabinet members and other governmental leaders discuss our nation's economy and defense position under present conditions. The importance of the savings bonds program to our nation's economic and military well-being was emphasized over and over again by the speakers. I know that the citizens of this county will support our president and our county will surpass its 1959 savings bonds sales goal," Chairman Humphrey states.

For the year so far Jones County sales rank third percentage-wise in the nine-county District 16 of Central West Texas counties. A table showing cumulative sales for the year and percentage of the 1959 goals follows:

Hamlin Reservists Take Part in District Naval Maneuvers

Vesta L. Townley, chief aviation structural mechanic of 137 Northwest Avenue E. and Andrew J. Hallmark Jr., machinist's mate second class of 536 Northwest Avenue I, of the U. S. Naval Reserve took part in a personnel mobilization training conference at the Eighth Naval District headquarters in New Orleans, Louisiana, which came to a close on March 14, according to a release to The Herald from that base.

The two-week conference was attended by naval reservists from the South and Midwest, who received lectures given by naval personnel, mobilization experts from Washington and the district headquarters.

Included in the 14-day training which fulfilled the reservists' active duty requirements for the year, was a mock operation instructing naval reserve procedure that would be taken when a total or partial manpower mobilization is required.

Two Hamlin Men Honored at Shell Awards Banquet

Two Hamlin men were among Shell Pipe Line Corporation employees honored Saturday night at the "Ten and Over Club" party at the Cosden Country Club at Big Spring. A total of 733 years of service with Shell was noted at the affair.

Forty-nine pipeliners (including 12 pensioners) from the concern's West Texas division were invited to the party, which is held annually for all Shell personnel with upwards of 10 years' employment.

Master of ceremonies at the banquet was F. L. Underwood, personnel supervisor of the West Texas division.

Oldest Shell Pipeline employees in point of service honored (all with 30 years) were the following: A. L. Geer, district superintendent of Colorado City; L. M. Sutherland, field gauger of Hamlin; M. W. Robertson, field gauger of Hamlin; and H. E. Peacock, field gauger of Roberts.

Similar "Ten and Over" banquets are held by Shell Pipeline throughout the country each year. Company employees receive a service emblem upon completion of 10 years' service and another emblem every five years thereafter. Upon completion of 25 years each employee is awarded an inscribed gold watch in addition to a diamond-set service emblem.

In charge of the committee arranging for the annual company party is A. L. Geer of Colorado City.

New High Price for Year Reached on Stocker Calves at Fort Worth Market

The closing days of March on the Fort Worth livestock market have been featured with renewed activity of cattle feeders as the fat cattle prices hit new peaks for the year, points out Ted Gouldy, special market reporter for The Herald, in his weekly summary. His release continues, Monday's trade was no exception as the 840-pound feeder steers cashed at $26.50 and 750-pound yearlings hit $27. Lighter yearlings earned $30.

The surge of activity by stocker and feeder buyers brought more inquiries from buyers seeking places at the ringside in the special cattle sale April 9 at the stockyards' new auction arena. At the bottom of the flurry of inquiry is the fact that fat cattle prices have hit the highest levels of the year or longer, and feeder buyers were competing with slaughter interests on short fed cattle here and at other major terminals over the country.

Farmers and stockmen, plagued by a dry winter, welcome the return of a strong stocker and feeder trade, and the first entries of the April 9 combination auction and private treaty cattle sale began to come in.

Fat cattle crossing into the $30 level in recent days at the market have focused attention of feeders in all parts of the country on the special sale and assure a strong out-of-state representation at the April 9 special cattle feature.

All grades and all breeds and classes will be in this event, and packers are lining up for ringside seats as well as stocker and feeder buyers.

Stocker and feeder cattle and calves at Fort Worth were active and steady to strong with some fleshy feeder cattle 50 cents higher. Slaughter cattle and calves were generally steady, except some slaughter cows were slow and weak.

Good and choice slaughter steers and yearlings sold from $26 to $30.25, the top figure for some strictly choice heifers scaling 697 pounds. Some over 1,100-pound steers scored $29. Medium and lower grade yearlings and steers cashed at $18 to $25.50.

Internal Revenue Is Ready for Tax Refund

Forgot something? That is the question Internal Revenue Service is asking of a quarter of a million North Texans. These 250,000 taxpayers are due a refund on their 1958 taxes but have not filed their tax return. The Internal Revenue Service is anxious to start processing these refund returns.

Incidentally, there are 350,000 other North Texans who have not filed their tax returns. These taxpayers owe money, Internal Revenue says, and now is a much better time to file than on April 16 when a penalty is due.

The tax folks sum up their advice to the 600,000 who haven't filed their 1958 tax returns with the admonition: "File now!"

Stamps Quartet Will Be Feature at Singing at Anson

One of the outstanding musical groups of the Southwest, Stamps Quartet of Dallas, will be one of the features of the sixty-seventh annual Jones County singing convention at Anson Sunday, it was announced this week by Rue Bennett, secretary.

The all-day song festival, which yearly attracts singers and song lovers from all parts of the state, will be held in the high school auditorium, starting at 10:00 o'clock a. m.

Regular 11:00 o'clock services at the First Baptist Church, which are being held in the school auditorium while the new sanctuary is under construction, will be held at 9:00 a. m. Sunday so that will not conflict with the singing convention.

Se o people from the Hamlin territory will be among the several thousand who will attend the annual songfest.

Flexible Insurance Plan for Texans Pending at Austin

Flexible insurance legislation which would save Texans $34,000,000 a year on automobile insurance this week was in the hands of a sub-committee of the House insurance committee at Austin.

The full committee completed last week three days of hearings on the merit, and opposition to a flexible rating system such as used successfully in other states.

The main witness for the proponents was Vestal Lemmon, general manager of the National Association of Independent Insurers, who testified that Texans were being "overcharged and gouged" on automobile insurance. He cited dozens of examples that showed that Texas car insurance buyers were paying from $15 to $50 a year more for car insurance than residents in other states, where the flexible rate system prevails.

"Texas is the only state in the union which bars competition in the car insurance field, and the result is that Texans are paying higher rates," Lemmon said.

A great many men shiver in the cold just because they imagined they had the fire of genius.

RELATES OLD TIME BANK ROBBERY—Mrs. Annette Haney is shown in her home at Lubbock. Mrs. Haney is the widow of John Haney, who was cashier in the bank at Seminole on that blustering, sand stormy day in February of 1912 when alone in the bank he was confronted by two masked bandits. The men escaped into New Mexico and their escape still remains as one of the major legally unsolved crimes in the history of the South Plains.

Wool Growers to Make Application For Incentive Pay

Chairman R. G. Rowell of the Jones County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee reminds wool growers that the incentive price for wool during the 1959 marketing year, beginning April 1 and continuing through March 31, 1960, is 62 cents a pound, the same as during the current 1958 marketing year.

Under the payment method used in the wool program, the more a producer gets for his wool, the higher payment he receives. The payment rate is the percentage necessary to bring the national average farm price of wool up to the incentive level.

The 1958 marketing year for wool and lambs ended March 31, 1959. Applications for payment which will be made during the summer and fall of 1959 are now being prepared in the local ASC office and will be mailed to producers within the next few days.

The application must be signed by the producer and returned to the Jones County ASC office on or before April 30, 1959, in order to be eligible for payment.

On sales after March 31, 1959, payments will be made in the summer and fall of 1960.

Sub-District Session For Methodists Held

Attendees were due here from Stamford, Rotan, Roby, Jayton, Sylvester, McCauley, Aspermont and Hamlin churches.

TEDDY RUSSELL HOME.

TO GO TO PUERTO RICO—When tiny Barbara Kerr, 16, of Corpus Christi strapped on several pounds of camping gear for a rigorous 17-mile hike last summer, she had no idea Puerto Rico was around the next bend. Barbara has been selected as a program aide at a Girl Scout camp in Puerto Rico to be held next July.

Ranchers of Area Sign up for Great Plains Program

A good number of farmers and ranchers of the Hamlin territory have made application for participation in the Great Plains conservation program, according to Malcolm Pennington, Abilene area conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service.

The GPCP is administered by the Soil Conservation Service. It is a three to 10-year contract program. The Abilene area SCS office administers the program in most of the counties comprising the Upper and Middle Clear Fork, California Creek, King-Stonewall, and Miller-Crazes Soil Conservation Districts.

The program, as applied to counties instead of SCS, Pennington said, can be broken down as follows:

Total applications, 224; Fisher County, 51 applications; Haskell County, 23 applications; Jones County, 20 applications; Knox County, 22; King County, seven; Nolan County, 34; Taylor County, 24; and Stonewall County, 43.

These applications were made since the program was initiated in 1957.

The applications or contracts that have been approved by the area directors include a total of 69 which cover 633,046 acres in eight counties previously named.

Total applications that have been approved by the SCS area office include 12 in Fisher, three in Haskell, five in Jones, three in King, three in Knox, 14 in Nolan, 21 in Taylor and eight in Stonewall Counties.

Total amount of money that will be or has been already involved in the first 40 contracts approved in the area office is $363,355. Seven of the eight counties are involved in the spending.

Fisher had six contracts approved for a total of $59,157; Haskell County was approved for two GPSP contracts and included $6,257 to carry out the programs.

Stonewall County was approved for the largest allocation of funds with $106,297 approved for 15 contracts in the county.

Nolan County had 10 approved contracts and received funds totaling $94,200. Others included Jones County, on contract for $17,410; King County, two contracts for $9,805; and Taylor County, four contracts for $11,016.

The practices that are agreed upon to be applied include: Brush control, grass seeding, terracing, construction of ponds, chiseling, pitting, cover cropping, construction of waterways, cross fencing, water storage facilities, etc.
